

Boy Scouts of America Troop 280

Barry McAndrew's Eagle Scout Project

Barry's Eagle Scout Project started on Thursday, November 6th at our usual meeting time. Instead of going to Bede's we went to the McAndrews residence where we painted sign posts. This began around 7:15 when everyone had arrived. There were snacks and water provided. About twenty scouts came to help, so we were finished after twenty minutes. From there, we cleaned up, took down the tarp and lights, and washed off the driveway. Afterwards, everyone went home early.

Tom Garback-Troop Historian
November 1st-2nd, 2014

Boy Scouts of America Troop 280

That Saturday was Barry's main day for work. At 9:30 in the morning, about twenty troop members joined (though a few came and went throughout the day) at Clark Nature Center. Work started right away and we dispersed into groups of three or four to begin digging marked holes for sign posts. This went on for many hours as the project moved deeper into the forest trails. It was slightly cold but clear and sunny. Everyone worked very hard but there remained a content mood. Doughnuts, coffee, and water was available throughout the day for snack breaks. When lunch neared at 12:30, pizza and cookies were eaten before finishing up the day's work. The next hour and a half brought the spreading of mulch along part of a path. Around two, the project ended for the day to be continued in the future for a final day.

Tom Garback-Troop Historian
November 1st-2nd, 2014

Boy Scouts of America Troop 280

Tom Garback-Troop Historian
November 1st-2nd, 2014