

Joe Long's Eagle Project

Joe Long's Eagle Project consisted of constructing picnic tables for Fort Mifflin. The bulk of the work took place over a weekend. On Saturday, about a dozen scouts and adults went to Joe's home from 8:00 AM to 2:00 in the afternoon. The weather was slightly humid and very sunny. Everyone worked hard and accomplished the daily goal earlier than anticipated. Lunch was around quarter after noon. There was a large meal of fruit and snacks, hamburgers and hotdogs, and deserts and drinks. Equipment for the picnic benches were assembled, sanded, and stained. The troop's trailer and two other cars were loaded with all of this for the next day's work.

Tom Garback-Troop Historian
September 19th-20th, 2015

Boy Scouts of America: Troop 280

On Sunday, scouts arrived at Joe's house at ten in the morning to drive to Fort Mifflin. About ten people attended, and the day was sunny and windy. The picnic tables were put together and placed in a picnicking area. Everyone proceeded without many breaks. Lunch was eaten, and the troop arrived back at Joe's house half after three in the afternoon. Joe wishes to thank everyone for their help in making his project a success. Fort Mifflin is very grateful for the project!

Tom Garback-Troop Historian
September 19th-20th, 2015